Product Description

Milk thistle granulate is 100% pure and raw granulate of hulled milk thistle seeds. A completely natural product derived from milk thistle seeds as a by-product after oil production. All the power of milk thistle is contained in the silymarin complex, a major active constituent of milk thistle in a raw and non-crystallised form that is known for its liver-protecting effects.

Since milk thistle granulate complements nearly every item, you can easily add it into your regular routine and diet. Milk thistle is a great way to unwind when you wake up, throughout the day, or in the evening after a demanding workday.
